

The 1921 Census – Chidham Civil Parish

The 1921 census was taken in June of that year. The questions asked were somewhat different to that of the previous census in 1911 in that much more emphasis was given to employment. The 1911 census was focussed to some extent on children, with the householder required to state how many years they had been married (if not single), how many children they had had in total and how many were still living. These details were not included in the 1921 census but the householder was required to give details on their occupation, for whom they worked and where they worked.

To avoid the repetition, in this transcript, I have omitted the county for the place of birth if it was Sussex. The transcript is taken from the whole of the Chidham folio, which you will see also included properties just outside of the Civil Parish such as Spring Gardens, West Ashling. It also includes some properties such as Cut Mill, which also lie just outside of the parish. It is clear from the documents that, in most cases, the census form was completed by the householder. The forms are clearly in many different hands and are completed in a variety of ways. This reflects the increasing literacy of the population. This probably also explains the anomalies in the given addresses where, for example, all bar one property in Drift Lane is given as Drift Lane, Bosham with just one giving the address as Drift Lane, Chidham. Also, Hamstead House, (now the Bosham Inn) is also given as Bosham, not Chidham.

The latter part of this transcript is taken from the Westbourne & Southbourne folio to include properties in Nutbourne East which are now within the parish. Not all the properties can be identified today but the sequence appears to move east from the George & Dragon public house, (formerly the Black Cat Café and now a private residence), so I have included those properties from the pub up to the Barleycorn pub. It can be seen that some properties in Cot Lane are included in this folio as these were outside the parish boundary until the recent re-alignment.
